

BORN TO DIE

What are we born for and what do we live for? And for what do we die? For what is he born and for what does he live? And for whom will he die? For what is she born and for whom does she live? And for whom will she die? For whom was I born and for whom will I live? And for whom will I die? Were we born to die? Or are we born to live? And do we live to die?

ASTROLOGY

Astrology originated in ancient Babylonia and developed in the West and Asia. You can predict human personality and social movements based on the position and movement of celestial bodies such as the sun, moon, and Venus, which are planets in the solar system.

Astrology is a fortune-telling and has no scientific basis. The zodiac is divided into 30 degrees and has 12 constellations. Each celestial body and constellation is meaningful, and it is believed to affect an individual's personality and society.

ARIES

Edited Postscript

I was able to enjoy and produce this magazine. I think I was able to introduce astrology with an unprecedented approach. It was good to be able to create something that was visually worth seeing and full of content. I would be happy if people who read this were even a little interested in astrology. What I was most particular about in producing this magazine was the selection and placement of photos. I tried my best to find photos on a free image site. Thanks to finding a lot of cool photos, this magazine has become a good one. I would like to thank the people who took free images and those who run the site.

BORN TO DIE

What are we born for and what do we live for? And for what do we die? For what is he born and for what does he live? And for whom will he die? For what is she born and for whom does she live? And for whom will she die? For whom was I born and for whom will I live? And for whom will I die? Were we born to die? Or are we born to live?
And do we live to die?
